The Texas Municipal Courts Education Center
2012 One-Day Clinic Series

DOT and Federal Motor Carrier Law

Effective enforcement of Federal Motor Carrier Safety Regulations (FMCSR) requires a partnership of federal, state, and local government. Effective enforcement also requires extensive training of local police in an area of little familiarity to most municipal court personnel. With the ever-expanding number of municipalities that are authorized to enforce both the FMCSRs and vehicle weight standards, municipal courts are entering this arena in increasing numbers. Join TMCEC "on the road" for a review of relevant federal and state authority and an opportunity for judges, court personnel, and prosecutors to better understand this complicated area of traffic law.
