Criminal Justice Degree Descriptions

Doctorate (PhD)-this program is designed to produce students of crime and justice who possess a deep and extensive awareness of the body of knowledge in the field of criminal justice and possess the intellectual and methodological skills necessary for the continuing process of discovery and understanding of crime and justice related issues.

Masters of Science- the degree prepares students to work in various areas of criminal justice administration including, but not limited to, organizational management and social policy.

Masters of Arts- the degree is designed to prepare graduate students to conduct research and actively participate in the development of knowledge in the areas of criminology theory, crime control, and correctional and police administration. The degree is especially beneficial for students already working in a criminal justice occupation who seek to increase their professional knowledge and skills.

Bachelor - the curriculum provides students with both the opportunity and assistance to acquire the knowledge necessary to understand the roles of policing, courts, corrections, juvenile justice and laws as they contribute to social order.

Certification- this certificate is attached to the Associates in Applied Sciences Degree in Criminal Justice and the transfer Field of Study degree in Criminal Justice. It is designed for students who would like exposure to the basic elements of the criminal justice system but who also have the intent of transferring to a Baccalaureate degree-granting institution.

Associates Degree- this curriculum is designed for those with Criminal Justice backgrounds as well as for recent high school graduates interested in preparing for employment in the fields of law enforcement, corrections, probation and parole or private security.

Enhanced Skills Certificate- this certificate is attached to the Associate in Applied Sciences Degree in Criminal Justice and provides the student the skills and academic requirements necessary to qualify for a law enforcement agency with a minimum 30 semester hour requirement.

Advanced Technical Certificate-this certificate is attached to the Associate in Applied Sciences Degree in Criminal Justice and provides the student the skills and academic requirements necessary to qualify for a law enforcement agency with a minimum 45 semester hour requirement.

MUNICIPAL COURTS – ENHANCING YOUR MUNICIPAL COURT CAREER

Professor Ana M. Otero

Where to Start (Financial Aid)

The place to start your criminal justice/paralegal financial aid search is with the federal government. First of all, you'll need to complete the FAFSA in order to determine the types and amount of federal aid for which you qualify. Federal aid includes grants, work-study awards, and loans. It's also the largest single source of available aid. To get your share, complete the FAFSA as soon as possible after January 1 of the year in which you intend to enroll.

After you have filed the FAFSA, it's time to look into grants and scholarships, especially those earmarked for criminal justice and paralegal students. Online scholarship search engines can often provide details on scholarships about which you may not be aware. Also try entering terms such as "criminal justice scholarships" or "criminal justice awards" into a search engine, such as Google. This is a particularly good way to gain an overview of the many school-sponsored awards for which you may qualify. The Following are websites to help you search for financial aid online. They are all free services, however many require that you set up a profile to access the information.

- Project Working Mom Scholarship

As part of the Project Working Mom campaign, which provides working moms the opportunity to receive a full-ride scholarship to one of the following schools: American Sentinel University, Ashford University, Capella University, Everest University or Penn Foster College. To apply for the scholarship women can go to <http://www.projectworkingmom.com> and submit an essay of 1,500 words or less that describes their life, education and/or career goals and explains how an online education will help them to reach their education goals.

- The Jeannette Rankin Foundation

A non-profit organization dedicated to raising funds for, and awarding scholarships to, low-income women, ages 35 and older. Must be enrolled in, or accepted to, an accredited school. Pursuing a technical or vocational education, an associate's degree, or a first bachelor's degree. Low-income according to the U.S. Department of Labor's Lower Living Standard.

Applications for the 2009 school year will be available on this site starting November 1, 2008. <http://www.rankinfoundation.org>

- Talbots Women's Scholarship Fund

A program of the Talbots Charitable Foundation, will award scholarships to women determined to finally get that college degree. Five women will each be awarded $10,000 scholarships, and 50 women will each be awarded $1,000 scholarships. All applicants must be seeking an undergraduate degree from an accredited two- or four-year college or university, or vocational-technical school. Only applicants seeking a bachelor's degree from a four-year college or university are eligible to receive a $10,000 award. Scholarship awards are based primarily on financial need and previous achievements for women who earned their high school diploma or GED at least 10 years ago. <http://www1.talbots.com/about/scholar/scholar.asp>
