

Managing the Minefields Between City Hall and Municipal Court: A Map for City Officials

109th Annual Texas Municipal League Conference

Houston, Texas

October 7, 2021

Judge Ryan Kellus Turner

Executive Director

Texas Municipal Courts Education Center

E-mail: rturner@tmcec.com Twitter: @rkellusturner

As we “focus forward” on the end of a pandemic and the ramifications of the latest legislative session, some local governments may be re-evaluating opportunities to fund their current service levels. “More than half a billion dollars in fines are collected by Texas cities every year. Yet, fines are a form of punishment for people who break the law, not a revenue source for funding government. Herein lies a tender trap for municipal governments and city officials” (TMCEC, The Brief, April 2021). This session will cover state law limitations on cities and traffic fines, traffic quotas and city hall, and the abuse of official capacity.

- I. Introduction by Means of Recap
  - A. TMLAC 2017: The Effects of Ferguson and the Future of Fines and Costs in Texas
  - B. TMLAC 2018: Between City Hall and Municipal Court: How City Officials Can Promote Public Safety and Confidence in the Legal System
  - C. TMLAC 2019: Councils, Courts, and Cities: The C3 Initiative
- II. Pandemic Observations
  - A. An Existential Crisis in Criminal Justice and the “Little Things” Reconsidered
  - B. America is Experiencing a Car Crash Epidemic
  - C. “Law Enforcement” and “Enforcing the Law”
- III. Extrapolating Criticisms of Law Enforcement with Courts
  - A. Academic Criticism of Municipal Courts
    1. Call for Critical Inquiry
    2. Call for Abolition
- IV. The Complicated Relationship Between Money and Behavior
  - A. Fines: A Deterrent or an Incentive?
    1. An Incidental Byproduct
    2. “Policing for Profit”
    3. Disparities and Inequities
- V. Monetary Minefields for Municipalities to Navigate
  - A. State Law Limitations on Traffic Fines in Texas
  - B. Traffic Quotas
  - C. Abuse of Official Capacity: A Cautionary Tale
- VI. The Map (More Like a Compass) for Traversing the Minefield
  - A. Commitment to Procedural Justice
  - B. Avoiding the Appearance of Impropriety
  - C. Promoting Judicial Independence
  - D. Being Mindful of Promoting Public Confidence